

SINO – UK – 2026 - Accommodation Information

To facilitate accommodation arrangements for conference participants, the organizing committee will provide necessary assistance and support. A number of college rooms have been reserved exclusively for the conference period and are only available through official conference channels; they are not accessible via standard booking platforms.

Where possible, the organizing committee has liaised with accommodation providers to help secure more favourable arrangements for participants during the conference period. However, availability and rates remain subject to confirmation at the time of booking.

Given the high demand for accommodation in Cambridge, participants are strongly advised to make their reservations as early as possible.

Accommodation at Wolfson College Cambridge

The conference has reserved a number of rooms at Wolfson College Cambridge for participants, with a view to supporting both their overall stay and academic exchange during the event. These rooms are exclusively available to conference participants and are not open to the general public.

Wolfson College offers a quiet and comfortable environment, with convenient access to the conference venue and Cambridge city centre, making it well suited for both accommodation and informal academic interaction.
